THE AMERICAN IRIS SOCIETY

FOREWORD

■ Among the regular BULLETINS of the year, the last issue comes nearest to being an historical document because it lists the registrations for the season and records also the various other data that are prepared by the Registrar, Mr. Gersdorff, whose labors are too often unappreciated because they go on quietly each year and result inevitably in data that are for reference rather than for reading.

The other major portion of this issue lies in the membership lists which you will find from pages 71 to the end. May I beg that you will read page 70 with care before you examine the lists.

B. Y. MORRISON, Secretary.

IRIS ARRANGEMENT
ALONG TULIP
WALK IN THE GARDEN OF
MRS. L. J. BLAKE

SPARTANBURG. S.C.

LEAVE IT TO THE IRIS

LOUISE BLAKE, THREE OAKS, SPARTANBURG, S. C.

■ Miss Grace Sturtivant was amused when I told her that for fifteen years I had marveled at the ease and sureness with which she named her iris. She answered with her radiant smile, "It is much easier to originate an iris than to name it." As I start this paper, at the order of our secretary, on garden pictures of tall bearded iris, I realize how much easier it is to plan and to plant than to describe the garden effect.

In the first place, I must confess that I leave it to the iris. In planning colors I neither study a book nor work with a color chart. I look at an iris and the iris tells me what to do. There are many people who have never really looked at an iris in their lives. It's an exciting thing to do. I look at an iris that is called pink and I find pink and blue and yellow and warm white. What is the use of going to a book or a color chart when the iris has told me the colors to use in my garden picture?

One other confession: I have not reached the height of iris culture where I shun amoenas, disdain plicatas, tolerate blends, dislike bicolours and scorn variegatas. I have liked amoenas ever since, many years ago, I bought Mildred Presby from Bertrand H. Farr. And I have noticed in my garden that visitors rarely pass Dorothy Dietz without a smile of appreciation and they always pause with a gasp of delight before Marquita and Shah Jehan. Los Angeles was my first modern plicata and age does not wither the luminous quality of this iris. Every spring I recapture the thrill of pleasure the first blooming gave me. At the Annual Meeting when we were being graciously entertained by Mrs. J. Edgar Hires, I ran out in the rain and darkness three times to look at the lovely, as well as wonderful, Siegfried. During supper, a suave voice whispered, "No use getting excited over a plicata." Well, I'm still excited over Siegfried! As for blends, with their coloring of charm and mystery, I can not even understand a lack of enthusiasm so I leave it to Serenité and Mary Geddes to plead the case. How can any gardener fail to appreciate the value and the beauty of bicolours? I leave it to Sir Micheal and At Dawning. And as for variegatas, I am thankful I have not missed the interest and delight of Deseret, El Tovar, Picador, Vision, and a score of others in my garden.

When we place a picture on the walls of our home, we carefully consider light and shadow but we are apt to place a garden picture anywhere we find a space. This is hard on iris, particularly hard on blends. I have two garden pictures where blends predominate: one, in partial shade; the other, in full sunlight. It is interesting how many tall bearded iris like partial shade. I look at an iris blooming in the hot sunlight and hear it begging for shade! The season Jean Cayeux came down in price to fit the purse of a doctor's wife, I bought a rhizome. The same season, a friend sent me Jean as a gift. One, I planted in partial shade, the other, in full sunlight. Jean of the shadows is a larger clump, has more blooms, lovelier coloring and far greater lasting power. Among the iris in this planting in partial shade are Copper Lustre, Summer Tan, Brown Betty, K. V. Ayres, Lux, Evolution, Far West, and Setting Sun. Here I am cherishing a wonderful blend of Mr. Thurlow Weed which will be named and registered next year. This Zeta blend grows stiff and straight on a 44-inch stalk and has an intriguing coloring of grey brown on a bronze gold ground. The falls, semi-flaring, are lightly washed violet blue. These iris are fastidious and do not like dull or gloomy neighbors. They are happy with light blues, and, by the way, Chancellor Kirkland likes to use Summer Cloud with Copper Lustre. They are also happy with pink blends like Tokay, Boadicea, and buff pink President Pilkington, and these are used in the picture which is framed at both ends by drifts of Euphony. I plan as my stock increases to paint this picture in two colors: tan and warm cream, for near-by is a brilliant splash of hemerocallis. The garden picture in full sunlight where blends predominate is made up of Mary Geddes, Golden Light, Crown Jewel, Golden Flare, Clara Noyes, Midgard, Rameses and Talisman. These deepen into the medium pink and rose of Coralie then into the deep rose of Evelyn Benson toning into Golden Hemlet and Dr. Kleinsorge's new blood red iris Rebellion, the standards suffused with bronze and rose. This planting has an irregular border of rose clove pinks, citron yellow, citrinum and bronze gold pansies.

After all, color sense is an individual thing and each one of us looks at an iris with different eyes. Mrs. L. W. Kellogg looks at a sparkling iris and sees copper; I look at the same iris and find it aglow with light shining through stained glass. I see ruby, violet and Etruscan gold. Naturally, we would use a different setting for Copper Piece.

I have a trail of copper Indians that makes a stunning garden picture. The trail starts with Timagami, Aztec, Ojibway, Magnetawan, Yucatan, and Junaluska. I wonder at the criticism that these look too much alike for each one is distinctive and rarely beautiful. Following on this Indian trail are War Eagle, Burning Bronze, Zuni, Indian Chief, and at last, Trail's End. I am experimenting in this group with Dr. Grant's lustrous purple Indian Hills because a near-by drift of purple baptisia adds amazingly to the picture.

On a southern terrace, over the heads of the Indians, are drifts of blue and of white iris. This planting was suggested by the iris themselves. A few years ago I bought three of Prof. Essig's iris: Easter Morn, Sierra Blue, and, my favorite of the Essig blues, Shining Waters. When they bloomed, the iris told me what to do with this terrace. Now, I have a drift made up of nine white iris followed by a drift made up of nine blue iris from light to medium. There are six white, and five blue drifts on the terrace, every one different but the same iris are repeatedly used. The best whites in this picture are Purissima, and in this Piedmont section of South Carolina Purissima has thrived for years, Easter Morn, Venus di Milo, Crystal Beauty, Joyance, Shasta, Columbine, Wambliska and Gudrun. The most outstanding white iris on the terrace last spring was Gudrun. The best blues are Shining Waters, Sierra Blue, Pale Moonlight, Pacific, Blue Monarch, El Capitan, Paulette, Missouri and Gloriole which surpassed all other blues in utter beauty. This terrace has a background of the single pink Japanese peony, Okino Nami.

On a higher level is a drift of gold. This is a new development which was to have twenty-five yellow iris but my enthusiasm carried it to fifty. There is nothing subtle about the color scheme but it's soul uplifting for all that! The ends of my drift start with cream yellow: Kalinga, Sunmist and Sweet Alibi at one end; at the other, Yellow Pearl, Doré and William Cary Jones. The last, a beautiful and little known iris by Brehm, was given me to try out in my garden and it is a beauty I would not be without. It grows on a strong stalk, a large flower of good form, fine substance and beautiful color of ivory yellow. In my drift of gold, cream yellows run into soft yellows of Alice Harding, Desert Gold, Gold Standard, Helios, Phebus Cayeux, Pluie d'Or, then into deeper yellows of Chromylla, Eilah, Eclador, Gold Spangle, Lady Paramount, Lucre, Robert, Jasmania, W. R. Dykes, Padishah, Marvelous, Alta California, then into real gold of Coronation, Crysoro, Happy Days, Golden Bear, Berkeley Nugget, Treasure Island, Lucrezia Bori, California Gold and Naranja. Most of these rhizomes were taken from clumps in my own garden, three are 1937 introductions and I have not seen their blooms: Chancellor Kirkland's Padishah and Marvelous and Dr. Kleinsorge's Treasure Island, a few others that I have liked in other gardens will bloom for me the first time next spring. Lucrezia Bori is one of these, a beautiful and exciting iris. Everyone went mad over it in Nashville and Chattanooga, and the pendulum of popularity swung too far, now it swings back with a note of criticism. The Dykes influence was visible then, visible too was the slight olive reflex on the falls. Lucrezia Bori is a thrilling iris. In my drift of gold, I have used some varieties twice to produce a required shade of color tone. I have made blunders but I leave it to the iris. They will tell me when they bloom where changes must be made. In the lawn surrounding this drift sparkle myriads of Johnny-jump-ups. No keeping Johnnys from jumping in my garden!

In front of the house I have a rainbow picture in which I use sixty clumps, each a different variety, of tall, modern iris. These are planted eighteen inches apart and I have worked to make neighbors congenial for this is really more important to an iris than to a human being. In this bed of strong vivid coloring, yellows are of the greatest use. Last year Valor and Lady Paramount stole the show.

In partial shade is a smaller picture made up of pink and of blue iris. Through the center from top to bottom is an irregular planting of blue composed of Sierra Blue, Shining Waters, Pale Moonlight, El Capitan, Gloriole, Blue Triumph, Blue Monarch deepening to Blue Dusk. On each side is a pink drift. On the left are Pink Satin, Pink Opal, Airy Dream, China Rose, At Dawning and the beautiful Morocco Rose of Dr. Loomis, a 1937 introduction of Mrs. Pattison who has revealed so much beauty to iris lovers. On the right are Imperial Blush, Thais, Ethelwyn Dubuar, Eros, Sandia and Frances Chreitzberg. This is an iris by a Spartanburg amateur whose work with iris has the love, skill and infinite patience of the expert. His iris, Frances Chreitzberg, is a large, slightly ruffled flower of fresh, sparkling medium pink. Form texture, substance, and garden value are good. The medium stalk is strong and branching. On each side of this garden picture is a frame of Noweta with columbines in pink and blue shades.

Red iris are a joy to me—and a problem. Every gardener knows that dark colored iris have to be prayed over if managed successfully, but I have no trouble with the beautiful dark blues, violets and purples for they are carefully planted with other colors where, with a little help at times from the yellows, they harmonize and make themselves perfectly at home. But reds! They grow on a bank facing the rising sun, a home they like for they flourish and multiply. The upper part of the bank, sloping down from the rose garden, is covered with creeping roses. The red iris are far enough away to escape all entangling alliances but near enough for perfect drainage and for a perfect background. First I planted with my reds some stunning variegatas toning in with yellow selfs. I could hardly wait for May! What happened? My reds shrank into the shadows and had nothing to do with the gay picture. In another part of my garden I had a modern dashing drift of red and of white tulips: Gloria Swanson and White Giant. These tulips solved the problem! All the variegatas and yellows went to other beds, instead, white iris were planted with my red. When I'd wake up winter nights I could see that picture! Spring came and the iris bloomed. What happened? Well, I felt uncomfortable, so did the red iris. They looked as if their slips were showing, and as if they knew it! Then I added medium blues and the picture went patriotic on me with poor coloring at that. In desperation I added medium pinks. Next July I plan to do what the iris have told me: leave the picture to red iris. I hope to have large enough clumps to be able to pull apart and combine carefully and gradually the varying shades and tones, avoiding sharp contrasts, making graduations very slowly, using three of one variety before going into the next. I leave it to the iris. They will show me the way. The iris fan who doesn't bother about iris pictures misses a lot of trouble—and a lot of joy.

It is against the rules to plant tall bearded iris in the rock garden but there comes a time in late spring when the interesting Alpines lose interest and the wake robins go to sleep. Then, if you have planted a drift of dazzling Neon that laughs aloud, or of Jerry, the one red that stands up and cheers, the rock garden will be jerked back to a veritable flame of life. And how the iris like to scramble between those rocks! They are like children on a picnic.

After all, the old fashioned way of planting an iris is the best—bordering a path. Look at an iris and it tells you it likes to march, swords and banners flashing. For many years iris have marched along my path from the drive to the woods, a distance of 275 feet. It would be no fun merely planting a row of iris on each side of a path, if I did not find out from the iris themselves the comrades who like to march together. Beyond the iris, on both sides, are tulips and they have undergone a development as great as the iris and have been replaced as often. Now my tulips are Modern Dutch Breeders and New Ideal Darwins and I have found that by planting a month later than I should, they bloom with my iris. One of my pictures is a combination of El Capitan, San Diego and Ningal with a drift of the New Ideal Darwin tulip, Golden Goblet, and a planting of Anchusa myosotidiflora. The combination following Ningal is Tuscany Gold, Honeydrop and Rose Dominion with a drift of the Modern Dutch Breeder tulip Indian Chief, which is not unlike in color the iris of the same name, and a planting of Siberian wallflower.

As I confessed in the beginning, when making pictures of tall bearded iris, instead of studying a book, I study an iris. It is my belief that the real gardener is too busy wielding a hoe in the garden to find time for wielding a pen in the study. So I leave it to the iris!

A BREAK IN COLOR

DAVID F. HALL

■ I am sometimes asked "What is your favorite iris?" This has been a difficult question to answer, for I like many. I could select a favorite in several color classes, but to name one favorite over all I found impossible.

But now, if asked this question, I can answer it without any hesitation. It is Mr. Hans Sass' "Prairie Sunset."

This iris has the honor of being the first seedling Mr. Sass ever named the first year it bloomed.

The sensational thing about this iris is its color, which I find impossible to describe.

If an artist should take some rich and brilliant apricot paint and blend it with deep rose and gold he might approach the coloring of Prairie Sunset. It is practically a self, has fine carrying quality, is glowing and has a smooth, silken finish. It is a definite new color break in iris and beautiful beyond description and is to me the loveliest iris I have ever seen.

Hybridizers know how difficult it is to secure a combination of all the desirable points in a single plant, but in Prairie Sunset we appear to have most of them.

In substance, size and form it is outstanding; the standards are domed, beautifully frilled, and the edges picoted, the falls are wide, long and semi-flaring.

In order to secure a maximum of increase Mr. Sass cut this first year plant up into single rhizomes, and it is impossible to state what height it will attain on an established plant, or how good the branching will be.

The bloom stems I saw on one year plants, grown in a dry year, were about 30 inches high, the branching and placement were fair.

This iris was the center of attraction on the day I visited Mr. Sass' garden and all seemed to agree that it was the loveliest iris they had ever seen, and to make it unanimous Mr. Sass admitted that it was decidedly his favorite of all his iris.

Mr. Jacob Sass has been scouring the country in an unsuccessful attempt to purchase from others sufficient stock of his "Red Douglas" to supply the demands of his customers at $25.00 per rhizome, but his brother Hans is one up on him.

Two iris lovers have told me that they offered Mr. Hans Sass $100.00 for a single rhizome of Prairie Sunset, and I understand a third person made a similar offer, but Mr. Sass prefers to hold the limited amount of stock he has of it for at least another year, when he hopes to have enough to supply the demand at a more reasonable figure and will not have to play any favorites in its distribution.

Prairie Sunset's breeding is interesting and should dispel any concern as to its hardiness and other good plant habits.

It is Sandalwood x Amitola.

Amitola is Rameses x Midgard.

Sandalwood is Amitola x a coffee brown seedling of Trojana x Old Gold.

Within the past few years our hybridizers have produced some very satisfactory large, clean, hardy whites and yellows.

I predict that within the next two or three years they will produce some sensational shades of apricot, pink and red, in large flowers on tall strong stems.

I believe the best iris we have today will be second rate and headed for the alleys in a very few years to make room for lovelier and better introductions.

WINTER HARDINESS

J. MARION SHULL

■ In Bulletin 64 George S. Pierce contributes a note on winter hardiness of Purissima and Conquistador and reports their ability to withstand temperatures down to 15 below zero successfully. I think there is considerable misunderstanding, or perhaps one should say lack of understanding, of the real problem of winter hardiness. With many, perhaps with most, growing things that occasionally succumb to low temperatures, there is wide divergence as to what can be endured without damage, dependent chiefly upon antecedent conditions of the plant itself.

Cold resistance is mostly relative and a Purissima that passed unscathed through 15 below zero on one occasion might on another pass out at a temperature of 15 above. Disastrous winter injury, whether of iris or of any other susceptible plant material is usually the result of definite weather sequences rather than of absolute cold alone. Even the weather factors involved are not single but may be compound or complex or both. Any combination, whether of drouth and nitrogen accumulation followed by abundant rain late in autumn, or of normal growing conditions abnormally prolonged because of unwonted warmth late in the season, may result in sappy, vigorous vegetative growth at the near approach of winter. Such a condition predisposes most plant material, and certainly any iris, toward winter injury.

Nature ordinarily checks rampant growth of perennial plant materials, whether woody or herbaceous, by a series of gentle shocks in late autumn, shocks that usually take the form of light frosts. Frequently and in many regions these light frosts are accompanied by lessened rainfall as well and this also tends to slow down growth with the result that a preparatory ripening or hardening takes place and the plant goes into the winter fully prepared to meet the severest of winter conditions.

In the region about Washington, D. C., the autumn of 1936 provided conditions particularly favorable for winter injury. There were no preliminary light frosts; there was an over abundance of water in the soil, so that vigorous growth was still taking place well into October. On October 29, a full week beyond the average local date for killing frost, there came, not merely a killing frost, but a severe freeze with temperature down to 26, that blackened leafage and young growth of roses and many other plants; that froze the leaves of crepe myrtle so that they dried up and remained on the plants instead of maturing and shedding in the usual way. Cambium of Ligustrum lucidum was reported blackened. Many hardy Chrysanthemums, caught in this state of unpreparedness, as now dead. What effect it would have on iris was conjectural until now when blossom stems are lifting into the air. Here at Chevy Chase our iris losses become apparent in early May, and as luck will have it, it is just those very things that were given the best places and cultivated with most care that have suffered most. Such new things as Parker's Jelloway, the superb yellow exhibited here the last two years, and the new white, Caridad, produced by the late Mr. Ayars, grew too rampantly and too late into the fall in my garden. Their blossom buds have been killed, and it is not due to inherent winter tenderness, for both have passed successfully through 15 below zero in other years.

That losses in general are not greater is apparently due to the extremely mild winter we have just had. After December 1, which at 10 above was the coldest day of the winter, the lowest temperature reached was 17 above, thus whatever injury occurs, either in iris or in other garden plants, must be laid, not to the extremity of cold, but to the suddenness of the onslaught and the lack of preparation to meet such abrupt changes.

A tender iris, generally supposed to derive from some such species as iris mesopotamica, may not after all be inherently less able to stand severe cold when properly ripened. Instead, the real weakness may be an inherited disposition to continue growing too late into the season, with consequent poor preparation to stand the cold—not that this makes such a variety any more desirable for garden use, for the end result is the same either way. Perhaps a compulsory slowing down by shielding the plant from late rains might do the trick of making it winter hardy. But after all there are so many fine things that are reliably hardy under normal conditions that one hesitates to recommend the increased labor and possible unsightliness involved in warding off the late rains as suggested.

PACIFIC COASTING AMONG THE IRIS

EDWARD SALBACH

■ After travelling through the Mid-West and New England during the 1936 iris season, the writer found himself minimizing his 1937 iris journey—that is until he checked through his notebook and found great volumes of notes, and until he noted the quite respectable speedometer reading of 2,100 miles. As a final conclusion, however, said “writer” finds that he was quite fortunate in the number of new iris he was able to see this season.

For convenience sake, I shall divide my observations into two groups—one a running description of seedlings and named but un-introduced varieties, each originators’ iris grouped; and the second comments on a number of outstanding varieties, these listed alphabetically.

As to seedlings, starting at Berkeley, I mention two, Sydney B. Mitchell iris, both definitely “different.” One, called El Choclo, is a real, rich bronze, and the other, designated as Fair Elaine, having creamy standards and deep yellow falls. Among the Carl Salbach seedlings is Golden Majesty, a large, tall, and well branched yellow of deepest, gleaming color. Another of great interest is a large lavender (No. 4-35) which is beautifully lacinated. Indian Love Call, blend, and Midnight Glow, almost black, were also fine. These do not, of course, complete the list of good new things I saw in Berkeley, but they do lead the list.

At Dr. R. E. Kleinsorge’s, in Silverton, Oregon, I choose four as my favorites among a splendid lot of seedlings. These were: No. 198, a glowing, very showy blend derived partly from Rameses, having falls almost brick red; a beautiful white of Purissima form, and assured hardness by being only $\frac{1}{4}$ Purissima (Far West by big cream); No. 211, a vivid, iridescent metallic copper; and No. 221, a beautiful, rich red. In addition, I noted several other very fine seedlings, which include No. 195, rich golden bronze, blended violet; a “red Mary Geddes;” “Ormohr’s brother” from the same pod as Ormohr, almost a “twin” to Ormohr, although my preference finally falls to Ormohr itself; No. 196A, a fine light blue; No. 227, a brown on the brown-violet tone; and others.

At Weed's, I missed two which were reported as very fine, both having been cut for photographing. I did see a pink as tall as Pink Opal, very well branched, but somewhat paler in color than the latter, and "orange bronze," a bright golden bronze toned iris.

In Seattle, I saw a splendid Depute Nombrot x Zuni seedling that I rank as a better Zuni in the gardens of Mr. Thole, but my big surprise here was to come when I saw Mr. George Brehm's seedlings. Mr. Brehm is a newcomer among iris breeders, but his garden contained some real treasures. One is the tremendous "Goliath," a real "buster" for size, colored deep blue-violet, almost black. Still another was a beautiful tall, perfectly branched flaring fall white of exactly the tone of Purissima (bred from Purissima x Dolly Madison, the same cross that produced Kalinga and two other hardy seedlings for Dr. Kleinsorge). In addition, Mr. Brehm has a fine series of light yellow to rich creams produced through Bruno. These all have substance like leather, and rich, even smoothness of color. One cream, in particular, was my preference among this splendid group and Louisa Ellen, a smooth light yellow was close behind. Others which impressed me included two sister seedlings on the table iris type, both very pink and very smooth, probably thanks to their being $\frac{1}{4}$ hoogiana. "Bonfire" and "Bonfire's brother," two other small iris, these of the copper and bronze tones, were also most attractive.

One other seedling I must mention is 2B-17, a Clarence White oncocyclis hybrid. This iris, not large or tall, is a beautiful lilac-lavender variety that is most orchid like. I did not have an opportunity to visit Mr. White's garden, but saw a stalk of 2B-17 which was brought to Berkeley from Redlands, packed carefully and wrapped while still in bud,

As to named varieties introduced this season or earlier, I make the following observations:

AMIGO. Not tall, but unusually rich.

AVONDALE. Unusual color, very showy. Large.

BRIDAL VEIL. Delicate white. Of hardy plicata parentage.

BRONZINO. Tall and clear. A new tone of bronze.

BRUNHILDE. Rich cobalt blue. Does well from Coast to Coast.

CALIFORNIA GOLD. A real championship yellow.

CARVED IVORY. Cream with deeper cream heart, and beautifully blended.

CASQUE D'OR. Bold form, rich color.

CHARM. New red tone, close to "strawberry."

CHEERIO. Tall, rich velvety tone, very showy.

CITY OF LINCOLN. Most showy variegata of all.

COPPER LUSTRE. Rich soft copper.

CREOLE BELLE. Unusual. Fine form and habit.

DARK KNIGHT. Rich and bold.

E. B. WILLIAMSON. A bud sent me by air mail proved to be a fine new tone of copper-red, and very smooth.

ECLADOR. Fine light lemon yellow.

ELEANOR BLUE. Very smooth, and a blue that "lives" well.

GLORIOLE. Huge and ruffled. Palest blue.

GOLDEN BEAR. Clearest yellow I have seen.

GOLDEN TREASURE. Cream, nearly white, with yellow center.

GRACE MOHR. William Mohr, grown up, with good branching and flaring falls.

HAPPY DAYS. Hugest yellow, tall, well branched; always a "stopper."

JUNALUSKA. Red with blended near-gold standards. A fine iris everywhere.

LADY PARAMOUNT. Fine light yellow.

LODESTAR. An old timer, and tiny, but never given its just due. Still an outstanding iris. Note the clear rich yellow border around the falls.

LIGHTHOUSE. Simply huge, of new coppery-rose tone, lit by inner light of light yellow.

MARCO POLO. Bob Schreiner's best red.

MARQUITA. Very different, always popular.

MARY GEDDES. Not a giant, but unusually colorful.

MIDWEST GEM. Fine golden blend. Bold form.

MISS CALIFORNIA. A giant lilac pink produced from a red and a light yellow.

MISSOURI. Splendid mid-blue.

MOHRSON. Very richly colored, and of bold form.

MOONGLO. Another good yellow blend.

MOUNT WASHINGTON. Taller Easter Morn, improved in form.

MONADNOCK. Vivid new color—rose red. Strikingly showy.

NARANJA. Deep yellow with orange cast. At home everywhere.

NATIVIDAD. A fine creamy white not as well known as it deserved to be.

NEON. Rich, gleaming near variegata.

ORLOFF. A clear, though not tall, brown-toned variegata. One of the best.

OURAY. As red as any; very brilliant, but not tall.

PORTOLA. Fron, grown up. A good variegata, lighter than City of Lincoln.

RADIANT. Perhaps the most brilliant iris known. Coppery-orange. Has given indications of being a fall bloomer, too.

REBELLION. Tall rich red.

RHAPSODY. A rich royal-blue-violet blend as it opened after being sent me by air mail.

SEDUCTION. One of the finest and most distinct plicatas.

SHINING WATERS. Perfect branching in a tall, fine light blue.

SIERRA BLUE. Tall and vigorous everywhere; a deserving Dykes Medal winner.

SILENT WATERFALL. Two tone white; standards cold white, falls warm white.

SOFARANA. Oncocyclus, almost a duplicate of Susiana. Bloomed well in Oregon, may grow where winters are more severe.

SNOWKING. Very bold, hardy white.

SNOW MAIDEN. Pure white pumila-intermediate hybrid.

SONG OF GOLD. A fine flaring fall yellow, remarkably fine as a clump.

SOUND MONEY. The yellow counterpart of Snow Maiden.

SUNBURST. Deep soft rich yellow; hardiness tested.

THE RED DOUGLAS. Huge rich dark red.

WILLIAM CAREY JONES. A cream of ideally formed flowers, and richest color, having as its only fault a tendency to "bunch" its blooms.

VARIETY NOTES SUBMITTED BY ACCREDITED JUDGES

■ The following comments were sent in to the Compiler of the Award Committee by the Accredited Judges of the American Iris Society. The Compiler has simply arranged them in alphabetical order so that you may see what a few judges have to say about both the newer and older varieties. These comments are not to be taken as the last word, but only as the impression one judge has had from seeing that particular iris. The next judge may have the opposite impression but simply did not send it in to the Compiler. One judge sent in the following statement with his comments: "There is nothing personal in any of them and I have not tried to be unkind—merely frank and honest in my reactions. Too many people praise an iris lavishly because it has one good quality, and never even see its faults; and too few give due attention to the question of reliability."

It is hoped the judges will please bear the above statement in mind when they make their ratings and comments next year. If a new iris should in your estimation be praised to the skies, then do so; on the other hand if it should be blacklisted, do so—please do not just pass it over without a rating. All this work is done to try to tell our members what new things we consider worthy.

W. M. KELLOGG,
Compiler.

ABELARD (Sass, H. P.).—This is a fine red blend in the early intermediates. (D. C.)

AIRY DREAM (Sturt.).—Not a giant but the best all-round pink since Rheingauferle, with the ruffled finish and fine form so characteristic of Glen Road irises. (Pa.)

ALICE HARDING (Cay.).—Almost identical with Phebus Cayeux, but about twenty-five per cent larger. (Minn.)

ALINE (Stern.).—A first class iris of unusual blueness. (Minn.)

AMANULLAH (Baker, G. P.).—One of the best from Europe; somewhat similar to Sir Michael in coloring. (Mass.)

AMIGO (Williamson).—1. Rich as a pansy; a very stunning iris—I cannot praise it too highly. (Minn.). 2. A little stiff, in the Dominion way, but relieved by a slight roundness. Excellent in substance and stunning in the richness of its color. Suggests Mildred Presby, Sir Michael and Shah Jehan averaged up. (Pa.). 3 Beautiful blue with velvet falls edged with light—of fine form, very vigorous. (Mass.)

AMITOLA (H. P. Sass).—As blends go, good; but who isn't surfeited with blends. A finished iris. (Minn.)

ANGELUS (Egelberg).—The one blend I can get enthusiastic about; a creamy, pearly light mauve pink of huge size and wonderful substance. A mile ahead of other blends.

ARABIAN PRINCE (Sim.).—Is a fitting name for this rich red brown blend. (D. C.)

ARTISTRY (Wash.).—An unusual color, distinct and pleasing. (Mass.)

ASHTORETH (Beaudry).—Smooth finish, heavy texture, vigorous, a fine garden mass. (Mass.)

ATTYE EUGENIA (Snow).—It is hard to decide which one of the new whites is best, but this ranks high in excellent company.

AUREX (Nicholls).—Of excellent form and good stem, very floriferous, good garden value. (Mass.)

BALLET GIRL (Sass).—Very silken and shimmering. Worth while. (Minn.)

BARWOOD (Williams, T. A.).—A very tall, sturdy medium deep red bicolor, well-branched; stood two heavy rains admirably as did Chinook and La Feria. (D. C.)

BEOTIE (Cayeux).—Another unusual color, blending of blue and gray that is of very good carrying quality. (Mass.)

BEOWULF (Schreiner).—One of the richest of all irises. (Minn.)

BLITHESOME (Connell).—A creamy white that appears to be pure white at a little distance. Very good. (Mass.)

BLUE JUNE (Donahue).—Lovely lavender with golden beard, flaring falls; well and low branched, standards a little open. (Mass.)

BLUE MONARCH (J. Sass).—Fine branching, domed standard and flaring falls, beautifully ruffled.

BLUE RIDGE (Cleveland).—A pale blue Siberian of Mrs. Cleveland's. Very excellent form and great garden value. (Mass.)

BLUE TRIUMPH (Grinter).—An outstanding rich blue self of size and substance.

BOULDERADO (Andrews).—A fine pearly blend with a touch of pink. (Cal.)

BRIDAL VEIL (Mitchell).—A real delicacy in a white of medium size. Of hardy plicata parentage, thereby not likely to show any tenderness. (Cal.)

BRUNHILDE (Salbach).—An iris of perfect form. A classic in its color section. (Minn.)

BURNING BRONZE (Ayres).—Did not bloom the second year in my garden, wonderful color and texture, good form and stalks, fine garden value. (Mass.)

CADETOU (Cay.).—I can't get genuinely enthusiastic about any variegata except City of Lincoln, but this one is a runner up. Quite distinctive. (Minn.)

CAFE AU LAIT (Graham).—The best seen this season. A heavy wind and rain did not mar its beauty. (Ala.)

CADMIA (Wrhm.).—Another underrated iris. Just a medium-sized pale garden yellow, but a real performer under adverse conditions, with heavy substance and resistance to rain and wind. Extremely floriferous. (Pa.)

CALIFORNIA GOLD (Mitchell).—1. Best of the Mitchell yellows. This had plenty of size and height this season and easily eclipsed its rivals of California origin in beauty and charm of flower. (Minn.). 2. The best yellow I have seen and the first to deserve a Dykes Medal. I have seen it two years and grown it one, and it appears to be the best doer of the new yellows that have had a chance to be tested out. The only clear yellow I have seen that is satisfyingly wide at the haft. (Pa.)

CALLING ME (Sturt.).—A fine light blue of great garden value. (Mass.)

CAPRI (Schreiner).—1. Rich and interesting, but too large for its height. (Pa.). 2. An iris of classically perfect styling and superb substance. Its color is good if you go for this shade of yellow. (Minn.)

CASTALIA (Williamson).—A much underrated iris. I have grown it four years and seen it in five gardens. It is the bluest of the light lavender-blues, except the old Bluet, which it replaces. It is large, though not as large as El Capitan or Pale Moonlight. It is tall, though not towering. It is bluer than Sierra Blue and though obviously neglected in most gardens, was blooming sturdily on its own stalks while Sierra Blue was carefully tied up with a stake for every stalk. It is more floriferous than Sierra Blue, twice as floriferous as Blue Monarch, and four times as floriferous as Pale Moonlight. It stands wind, rain and sun. When El Capitan and Santa Barbara rot out in my garden, Castalia increased fourfold, remains clean and goes on blooming. When, in steamy weather, San Francisco, Dolly Madison, Mrs. Valerie West, Candlelight and others formerly rated 90 to 98 sag and lie prostrate, Castalia stands up like a soldier. I rate it with Indian Chief, Baldwin, Los Angeles, Dauntless and Rameses, as one of the six best iris among the 300 I have grown, best in that they combine modern size, color, form and distinction with thorough reliability, as proven through at least four varying seasons. (Pa.). The Bluest of the blues since the old Blue Jay. (D. C.)

CATHEDRAL DOME (Nesmith).—1. This large frilled white rates with me as one of the best of the large flowering type, and is very floriferous for a big flower. (Mass.). 2. A ruffled white with a green midrib, semi-flaring. Falls $4 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$ with a fine stalk and good garden value. (Mass.)

CELLOPHANE (Washington).—Very large, with domes standards close together, falls semi-flaring, substance good and stalks tall, well branched, although in one instance I noted a little crookedness. (Mass.)

CHARLOTTE LEE (Donahue).—Standards orchid, falls a little darker, ruffled, sister of Polar King. Good form and florescence, color and quality, but stalk and vigor questionable. (Mass.)

CHINOOK (Williams, T. A.).—Floriferous, well-branched medium large white. (D. C.)

CINCINNATI (Ayres).—Tall and large but not very full petaled. (Minn.)

CITY OF LINCOLN (H. P. Sass).—Most vivid of all variegatas. Comparison shows much more brilliance than Vision or any other I have seen. (Cal.)

COPPER CRYSTAL (Wash.).—1. An intermediate in size and form; a bicolor in the King Tut class, but with less veining, and with the nearest approach yet to a true red in the velvety falls. (Pa.). 2. The best of the near browns; a brilliant iris across the garden, the falls glistening red, but at close range are really brown with a red overcast; the standards are a lighter tone of brown. (Mass.)

COPPER LUSTRE (Kirkland).—1. This iris showed its real beauty this year, at least 75 per cent better than last year, when I did not rate it. (Mass.) 2. A huge flower, very distinct. (Mass.) 3. Interesting, rather than beautiful and marred by poor form in the falls. A collector's item of first distinction, but the artist who cannot afford it will not pine away and die. (Pa.) 4. I'll pass this up for Summer Tan any day. (Minn.) 5. Fine all through, although standards sometimes seem to open and garden value not outstanding, owing to color. (Mass.)

COPPER PIECE (Kellogg).—1. I liked this better this year than in 1936; it seems to have more brilliance and lustre in cooler weather. It is a real color novelty and the garden effect is good. (Pa.) 2. Unique, would give a lot to see this in the clump. (Minn.) 3. Most excellent in every way as far as one can tell who does not live with it. (Mass.)

CORALIE (Ayres).—1. Really good. The nearest light rose of any iris I've seen. (Minn.) 2. Bright, clean and attractive this year, in two shades of pink; the first time I have seen it right. It appears to be a once-in-three-years iris. (Pa.)

CORTEZ (Nesmith).—1. A stunning garden iris with size, poise and carrying power; a little too much veining on close inspection, but fine at thirty feet. (Pa.) 2. Smooth finish, rich red purple falls, light tan yellow standards, stands out in the garden. (Mass.) 3. A very beautiful flower, but I have not had good luck with it, as it blooms well for Mrs. Nesmith. (—.)

CREOLE BELLE (Nicholls).—An outstanding dark colored iris. The brown on the haft makes it distinctive; seems to grow well. (Mass.)

CRYSTAL BEAUTY (J. Sass).—1. Very fine. Rather think I prefer it to the famous Snow King. Substance not perfect. (Minn.) 2. Stood wind and rain but not so good in the South. (Ala.) 3. Form not up to mark, nor stem, although branching was low. (Mass.) 4. I place this ahead of Snow King mainly because it is more generous in bloom. I must admit to the breath-taking fineness of the individual stalk of the latter. (D. C.)

CYRUS THE GREAT (Kirkland).—1. Appears to be better in poise, substance and form than most of the dark purples with dark beards. Also larger than most of this class. I prefer it to Brunhilde, which rates higher on points. (Pa.) 2. A top-notch among the deep blue-purples. (Mass.)

DAUNTLESS (Connell).—One of the best reds this season regardless of price. (Minn.)

DAWNING DAY (Kirkland).—An exquisite flower with semi-flaring falls, fine quality, good all through. (Mass.)

DESERET (Thorup).—One year plant. Fine color and quality, stalk, floescence and garden value, form and vigor not so evident. (Mass.)

DEPUTÉ NOMBLOT (Cayeux).—My perennial thrill. Except for intensity of coloring, the perfect iris. (Minn.)

DIRECTEUR PINELLE (Cayeux).—Probably the greatest dark iris. (Minn.)

E. B. WILLIAMSON (Cook).—A fine new color, very rich, yet like soft coppery-red silk or brocade. (Cal.)

ECLADOR (Cayeux).—1. I like it better each time I see it. The narrow yellow edge is distinct and the form is fine. Grows well. (Mass.) 2. For purity of color, lustrousness of sheen and copiousness of form, this yellow has no equal. It is number one of my big four among the yellows, the others—Golden Treasure, California Gold and Jelloway. (Minn.) 3. Second year. After a winter with late frost, but a disappointment as first year was good. (Mass.)

ECLAT (Gage).—Is always much admired by visitors for its unique color, bronzy yellow becoming almost an orange, gold dusted. (D. C.)

EILAH (Loomis).—Too plain I think, though perhaps in the mass its utterly unassuming Quakerish cut of petal might produce a serene harmony of form. (Minn.)

ELEANOR BLUE (Salbach).—Upstanding but a bit rily in color. (Minn.)

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT (McDade).—Another intermediate of the fall blooming type, the only one which so far has been reliable in that respect. (D. C.) One of the best fall bloomers, an intermediate very dark, a wonderful color, good quality, not extra as to form or vigor but a good bloomer. (Mass.)

EROS (Mead).—Seen in several gardens, grew vigorously in my own garden a beau-rose, with an orange beard, fine stalk and very free flowering, very tall. (Mass.)

ETHIOP QUEEN (Schreiner).—Put this one down as important. Very nearly black. The most lustrous iris I have ever seen. (Minn.)

EXCLUSIVE (Grant).—A large blue of finished texture with cool, silvery overtones. (Minn.)

FAIRYLEA (Hall).—If you loved Fairy and haven't seen this one, look it up. It is larger and freer, with no loss of daintiness. (Pa.)

FAR WEST (Kleinsorge).—Rather good. (Minn.)

FIESTA (White).—Not gigantic, but finely formed, smooth and glowing. A real thrill in the clump. (Minn.)

FRANCESCA (Douglas).—A wonderful flower in every respect except form, which is not perfect although the standards are domed and the falls semi-flaring, but standards seemed to open a bit. Very tall and well-branched, bearing many flowers with a most unusual coloring, rosy tan standards with falls a deeper rose. (Mass.)

FRANK ADAMS (Lapham).—Similar in color tone to Picador. This iris is of purer coloring and just as good a grower. One of the best from Mr. Lapham. (Mass.)

GARDEN MAGIC (Grinter).—Neither very large or very tall on a one-year plant, but very fine in form, rich in color (a velvety crimson) and firm in substance. After a cloudburst at Hartford, when 90 per cent of the irises had melted, it was serene and unspoiled and the same flower was still in good shape the following day. (Pa.)

GATINEAU (Preston).—One of the most beautiful Siberians, with every desirable quality almost to perfection. (Mass.)

GIFT (Lothrop).—An early bloomer, standards domes, ashes of roses, falls velvet maroon or deep wine, and an orange beard that proved of fine quality in my garden this summer, and which I think must have been overlooked because not well known. Very hardy and vigorous. (Mass.)

GLORIOLE (Gage).—1. If this were an easy grower and did not sometimes droop in the falls, I would call it my number one iris. At its best it is incomparable. (Minn.) 2. I cannot share the general enthusiasm for Gloriole. One flower on Miss Sturtevant's clump, in just the right light, had form and delicacy; in five other gardens in two years it has looked to be more like a dirty white than a pale blue. The flowers have generally been in bad shape and the plants not too vigorous. It runs to size rather than height and texture rather than poise and form. (Pa.) 3. Cool, frosted, good form and texture, glad that this iris originated in New England. None better, is pale blue in color. It stands beside Imperial Blush in my garden and the two go well together. (Mass.) 4. This iris in my estimation is about the most outstanding candidate for this year's award of the Dykes medal. It is another blue 'tis true, but one which for its frosty freshness will long remain a favorite and apparently it is an easy doer most everywhere (D. C.)

GOLD CRYSTAL (Burtner).—Deepest yellow without actually being orange, of medium size and height and having the heaviest substance of any of the yellows yet introduced. (D. C.)

GOLD VELLUM (Gage).—An intermediate of fine form and substance in a clear waxy yellow. (D. C.)

GOLDEN BEAR (Mitchell).—1. A real, clear yellow. (Cal.) 2. A fine, large, clear yellow. Not as distinctive in form as California Gold, nor as bright as Jelloway, nor as big as Lady Paramount, but strikes a good average of all three. (Pa.) 3. One of our best deep yellows, rich yellow beard. (Mass.)

GOLDEN HIND (Chadburn).—Certainly a nugget for color, but rather small for a modern iris. (Minn.)

GOLDEN LIGHT (H. P. Sass).—1. In the ruffled blend class with Euphony, Talisman, Golden Flare, Sun-Pink, and Sun Tan (Baker), but the most brilliant and striking of them all, and apparently one of the most vigorous. (Pa.) 2. Beautiful, but for me a shy bloomer. Did not bloom at all in '36 and only one bloom in '37. A rather poor doer. (Mass.)

GOLDEN TREASURE (Schreiner).—1. So bright in the garden that on a cloudy day it appears as if a single spoke of sunlight were lighting up this variety along. (Minn.) 2. Takes high rank for form, substance and branching. The three way branching is not surpassed by any other iris and the soft cream tones are easy to look at. It's a gem in its color. (Ia.) 3. Glorious in 1936, but a disappointment in 1937, the falls hanging limp and narrow like those of Lucrezia Bori. (Pa.) 4. A beautiful yellow, rather wanting in form, fine stalk and a good bloomer, not very vigorous, but excellent in the garden. (Mass.)

GRACE LAPHAM (Lapham).—In my opinion the purest pink of the medium toned pinks yet introduced, not a large flower, but exquisite, dainty, lovely. (Mass.)

GOOD CHEER (Sturtevant).—Very showy, lacking somewhat in stalk. (Mass.)

GRACE MOHR (Mitchell).—Stood up well after rain. Form not so good, sought for by everyone, a distinct novelty and excellent doer. (Mass.)

GUDRUN (Dykes).—1. The finest warm white to date in everything but height; and somebody at the Wilmington show managed to get even that in one stalk. (Pa.) 2. I am not as thrilled by this as I used to be, but I note that it is a great favorite with many garden visitors. (Minn.) 3. Seems to be an easy doer, for everywhere it gave fine stalks with immense pure white blooms. (D. C.)

HAPPY DAYS (Mitchell).—1. Big. (Minn.) 2. Not so good in the East. I have seen four clumps, but only one was blooming. That was loaded with flowers, but they were a dull, lifeless yellow, not too good form or substance and not especially large. Cadmia, a few feet away, was better on every point but height. (Pa.) 3. A very large flower on a tall stalk, blooming through a long season, a very smoothly finished flower. (Mass.) 4. Though I place Happy Days second to Jelloway for color, in spite of the hint of brown in the falls, when well grown it is a breath-taking beauty. (D. C.)

HASSE OBEA (Wash.).—Is distinctive in light orange blend. (D. C.)

HENCHMAN (Morrison).—There is nothing like it for deep rich blue coloring, startling and very effective. (D. C.)

ILSE LOUISE (Smith).—A seedling at the Iris Show, New York, having nine buds, very vigorous and with splendid stem, of fine form; old gold falls with a lighter edge and a golden beard, all making for wonderful garden value. (Mass.)

ISHPANEE (Washington).—Not a large flower, falls not wide but good shape, fragrant, splendid form, having a wide haft; rather a shy bloomer in my garden the second year, marvelous color, giving good garden value. (Mass.)

ITASCA (Kleinsorge).—1. Here is an iris that the color is even better than the colored picture in the catalogue, very rich. (Mass.) 2. A very beautiful iris, almost as purple as the illustrations. Unfortunately, the stem is too short to show the throat to the best advantage. (Pa.)

JANET BUTLER (McKee).—Standards yellow and falls deep brown with darker reticulations, a yellow haft, with brown ret., 32-inch, fine color and substance, good form and very vigorous with many buds. A seedling of Mary Geddes. (Mass.)

JASMANIA (Ayres).—1. The only large yellow not to go down in the heavy downpour in Nashville May 12th, except a seedling of Kirkland's blooming the first time on that date, but that is a super-iris far ahead of any yellow so far introduced. (Ala.) 2. The best deep-toned yellow iris I have seen, and a splendid grower. (Mass.)

JEAN CAYEUX (Cayeux).—1. Four days of sunless sky in Mr. Graham's garden brought this iris out in all its glory, so rarely ever seen in this country. I am trying partial shade on mine next season. (Ala.) 2. A fader. In Mr. Douglas's sandy soil at Woodbury in the rain, it had the color of the illustrations. Everywhere else I have seen it, it has been washed out to a dirty yellow. Fine form and poise and good size and height. (Pa.)

JEAN LAFITTE (Washington).—Standards frosty rose-beige, domed and ruffled; falls dark rose. Very low, branching 8 inches from the ground. Stem bends out a little and buds perhaps toe in. A very fine iris notwithstanding. (Mass.)

JELLOWAY (Parker).—1. This appears very promising. (Minn.) 2. Not quite as wide in the falls as it should be; otherwise the best new yellow this year in the East. Clear, golden color, no sign of Dykes. Fairly tall and very floriferous on a one-year plant. (Pa.) 3. Though this lacks the size of Happy Days it is in that respect only that it may be found wanting by some—with us in Washington, D. C., it is considered the yellow—A1 all yellow of large size, good form and substance, well branched, no blemishes. (D. C.)

JOYANCE (Dykes).—A slightly ruffled glistening white, well domed standards and a green midrib. White, straight-hanging falls with a golden haft. Low fine branching; brilliant orange beard, broad haft and weather resistant, all of which goes to make a fine iris. (Mass.)

JOYCETTE (J. Sass).—1. Outstanding. (Minn.) 2. Not a perfect stalk nor very floriferous. Bronze beard, vigorous and good form. (Mass.)

JUNALUSKA (Kirkland).—Combines beautiful color with size, form, substance and branching. The best of the group that includes Maya, Jean LaFitte, Aztec, Ojibway, Magnetawan, etcetera. (Pa.)

KALINGA (Kleinsorge).—This bloomed white at first this year—almost a snow white. With its huge size, superb form, fine height and branching I thought I had never seen a white to equal it. Later a change of weather induced its usual creaminess. Either way I consider it mighty fine. (Minn.)

KHIVA (Shull).—Is quite a red bicolor, large, tall, finely branched. (D. C.)

KING PHILIP (Fewkes).—Large light blue-violet. Standards

domed with round falls. After it is established vigorous, flowering well, tall and fine garden effect. (Mass.)

LADY PARAMOUNT (White).—1. Had a few flecks this year, but it grows well in mass and has fine form. A clear light yellow. (Mass.) 2. Plain but good. (Minn.)

LA FERIA (Williams, T. A.).—A tall, very large pink-toned blend and Russet Gown (Williams T. A.), a tall red bicolor blend of medium depth and large. (D. C.)

LARGO (Ashley).—This is a very effective light blend, large and tall. (D. C.)

LEATHER WINGS (Graham).—A creamy white of perfect form. (Ala.)

LENZSCHNEE (G&K).—I saw this in fine form in Woodbury, N. J., where as a large clump it proved very effective planted near the darker varieties, white standards and pale grey falls, of large size. (D. C.)

LIGHTHOUSE (Salbach).—1. A real standout—as beacon-like in the garden as its name would indicate. (Cal.) 2. Huge in size and lively in carrying power. Not so refined on close inspection. Too much veining. A good garden iris. (Pa.)

LILY PONS (Washington).—Magnificent in my garden this year. A second-year plant, wonderful garden value, a great increaser; all required points fulfilled almost to the letter. (Mass.)

LUCREZIA BORI (Schreiner).—1. Temperamental. At its best very fine. (Minn.) 2. Not a favorite of mine, too long narrow falls rather hang-dog like, but better this year than the two previous years. Many better ones. (Mass.)

MAID OF ASTOLAT (J. Sass).—Exceedingly chaste and serene. (Minn.)

MARCO POLO (Schreiner).—Good, but I prefer Beowulf. (Minn.)

MARQUITA (Cayeux).—1. I like it much better each time I see it. (Mass.) 2. One of the most unique of all, a great increaser; domed white standards and falls striped rose. America should give it its highest award. (Mass.)

MARY STUART (Stahlman).—A beautiful iris of refined form—has a sheen that makes it glisten. (Mass.)

MAYA (Washington).—Not very vigorous nor an abundant bloomer, but it is fine in every other respect and perhaps needs more time to become established. (Mass.)

MEDLEY (Sturtevant).—A good garden blend. The clump is similar in effect to Hermene, but the flowers have more substance. (Pa.)

MIRADOR (Nicholls).—Judged on a first year plant but said to be tallest variegata. Standards ruffled primrose edged yellow, falls maroon; seemed to be a fine bloomer. (Mass.)

MANCHU PRINCE (Washington).—Standards dark buff, domed and closed, falls large and flaring, deep maroon almost black, wide haft and rich orange beard. Strong and vigorous. (Mass.)

MIDWEST GEM (H. P. Sass).—Is a gem indeed. The large light buff pink blooms possess fine form with standards ruffled and fall flaring. The flower is clean and the yellow tone in the haft makes a pleasing combination and a finished flower. (Iowa).

MISS CALIFORNIA (Salbach).—A new tone in pink and in a big iris. (Cal.)

MISSOURI (Grinter).—1. The finest medium tone blue I have seen; heavy substance. (Mass.) 2. Much over-rated. It is an interesting steely blue in color, and smooth in texture, but it has stiff, coarse form of Sensation and the same disorderly plant growth. Decidedly a weedy iris. The Sensation strain in iris breeding has bad traits and ought not to be encouraged. (Pa.)

MME RECAMIER (Wash.).—A blending of the colors of a fine honey opal, all its soft tones and its fire, good size and a nice stalk. (D. C.)

MOHRSON (White).—1. Sombre, but rich. Stunning in size and texture and obviously a stronger and better grower than William Mohr. (Pa.) 2. Standards deep violet ruffled, falls deeper velvety violet, caused by dark lines ruffled and semi-flaring. Standards open a little and flower fades some, golden beard; low branched two stalks, one with three branches and the other two; many flowers, strong and vigorous and wonderful quality. (Mass.) 3. Grows well, seems to be much stronger grower than William Mohr; holds its form well. An outstanding iris. (Mass.)

MONADNOCK (Salbach).—Most vivid and very large. (Cal.)

MOUNTAIN SNOW (Kellogg).—1. This variety impressed me as being the best of the large flowering whites I saw last season; excellent form and branching. (Mass.) 2. Certainly one of the best of the new whites and perhaps the best for eastern gardens. It has size, height, branching, poise and clean garden effect. The best flowers of Crystal Beauty seem to me a shade better in form and delicacy, but Mountain Snow seems to maintain a better average. Both are better than Snow King as I saw the latter in eastern gardens. (Pa.) 3. A fine large blushed white, well branched. (D. C.)

MOUNT WASHINGTON (Essig).—A taller, improved Easter Morn. (Cal.)

MRS. J. L. GIBSON (Gibson).—Perhaps the best deep blue. (Minn.)

MELLOW MOON (Washington).—A wonderful bloomer, vigorous, want to check up on stalk. A taller Doxa.

NANNIE (H. N. Tobie).—Wide branching straight hanging falls, good promise. (Mass.)

NARANJA (Mitchell).—1. I like it better than ever, grows well in New England (Mass.) 2. The most striking color break in years, startlingly orange in effect. At Hartford in 1936 it was excellent in form and substance as well and looked sturdy; but the same plants this year showed poor growth and inferior bloom, and in several other gardens it did not bloom at all. Too bad. (Pa.) 3. Interesting as a color-advance but of rather cloudy tone and squat form. (Minn.) 4. There is nothing just like it that is as good, though the one that it resembles is an old one lacking in quality. (D. C.)

NORDIC (Kirkland).—A stately, distinguished iris with remarkable carrying power. When you turn and look back, it is one you see. (Pa.)

NO-WE-TA (H. Sass).—Not so new, but very, very lovely, especially in the clump. (Minn.)

OJIBWAY (Kirkland).—1. Beautiful in color but wretched in form. (Pa.) 2. Tall and vigorous, a good bloomer not up to Copper Lustre. (Mass.)

ORLOFF (J. Sass).—1. Not a “whopper” but one of, if not the most beautiful “plic” of all. (Cal.) 2. The large flowered Orloff, buff in tone with falls stitched and dotted brown, is yet a different color tone from any seen heretofore. Perfectly formed and of heavy substance, it is another advance made by Jacob Sass in the plicatas. (Iowa)

ORMOHR (Kleinsorge).—Definitely a sensation. Perhaps the boldest iris grown. (Cal.)

ORIANA (H. P. Sass).—Frosty, excellent color and quality. Vigorous but did not own it so did not live with it, which tells the story. (Mass.)

OURAY (Thomas).—Not large but very, very red. (Cal.)

OZONE (J. Sass).—1. The reddish-brown hafts give it an absolutely unique color effect that is very fascinating and it appears to have the substance and habit of its ancestor, Baldwin. If so, it will be another best. (Pa.) 2. Another real iris from the Sasses. (Minn.)

PALE MOONLIGHT (Essig).—1. A truly superb light blue. I place it next to Gloriole in beauty. Tall and vigorous, unfortunately a bit tender. (Minn.) 2. One of our finest light blue irises; its late bloom makes it desirable. (Mass.)

PEACEMAKER (Mitchell).—A lot of us have been missing something. A clean, smooth iris on the most perfectly proportioned stalks in the garden. (Pa.)

PIUTE (Thomas).—It tucks its falls but is the reddest of them all. (Ala.)

PLURABELLE (Cayeux).—Orange standards and orange brown falls, slightly showing W. R. Dykes flecks. One of the irises that it is very hard to keep the rating of down, all its points seem so perfect. (Mass.)

POLAR KING (Donahue).—Would have rated very high, had it been distributed before so many beautiful whites appeared, but now many rivals are in the field. A pure white with orange beard. (Mass.)

PRAIRIE SUNSET (H. P. Sass).—Is a new break in color. The soft, light brown self is distinctly different and in no way compares to the brown tone usually associated with iris. Splendid in form and color, it should be a shining light in the garden. (Iowa)

PRESIDENT PILKINGTON (Cayeux).—Dolly Madison faded out to a dirty gray. (Pa.)

RADIANT (Salbach).—Most brilliant of all, perhaps a fall bloomer too. (Cal.)

RED COMET (McKee).—1. This fine red was even better this year than when I saw it two years ago. I have given it three points higher this year. (Mass.) 2. A smooth finished form, distinct in form and color; the fine close lines in the falls are very pleasing. (Mass.)

RHAPSODY (Williamson).—A beautiful rich blend of blue and royal purple tones. (Cal.)

ROSE LADY (Burtner).—A very large freely branched medium deep rose self of fine form and substance. (D. C.)

ROSY FLUSH (Tobie).—Almost an Amoena. Standards of ashes of roses, edge pinkish violet; rose falls and a white haft, a little pinched but a first year seedling, very low branching, good promise.

ROSY WINGS (Gage).—Was good everywhere but the colors are more brilliant in the South (Ga.)

SAILS ALOFT (Shull).—Very pale blue grey self of fine form, substance, texture and is distinct. (D. C.)

SEDUCTION (Cayeux).—1. Quite good; distinctive, interesting. (Minn.) 2. Medium height and size, almost perfect form and fresh clear coloring. A worthy addition to the plicata class that ought to have come from Miss Sturtevant. Much superior to Electra on one comparison in the same garden. (Pa.) 3. A huge plicata of good form, standards hold up in good shape. (Mass.)

SEPTEMBER DAWN (Nicholls).—Proves a very effective clump with its standards of pinkish buff and deep yellow falls, though only medium in size. (D. C.)

SERENITÉ (Cayeux).—A highly distinctive iris. One of my ten favorites. (Minn.)

SHAH JEHAN (Neel).—1. On two years' observation this appears to be a good doer and if so, it is the most important addition to the near-amoenia class since Mildred Presby. May have to compete with Amigo. Both are rich and subtle. (Pa.) 2. One of the richest and most unique of all irises. (Minn.)

SHANTUNG (Shull).—Is a refined creamy yellow self with deeper edges to bases of falls and standards. (D. C.)

SHINING WATERS (Essig).—An excellent blue. (Minn.)

SHIRVAN (Loomis).—A very rich iris with a perfect haft. An iris of faultless form. (Minn.)

SIEGFRIED (H. P. Sass).—Very interesting. Of value chiefly as a novelty. (Minn.)

SIERRA BLUE (Essig).—1. A truly great blue. (Minn.) 2. Tall and stately. (Mass.)

SILVANUS (Gage).—Violet flushed yellow and a greenish midrib, well proportioned, great vigor and good bloomer. (Mass.)

SIR KNIGHT (Ashley).—A meritorious giant. (Minn.)

SIR LAUNCELOT (J. Sass).—Redder than King Tut; richer and more striking than Golden Helmet. The reddest yet in this class of Sass bicolors. (Pa.) A knockout for color, fine substance and free blooming. (D. C.)

SIR LAUNFAL (Kirkland).—So blue on a gray day that the air surrounding it is a blue halo. (Ala.)

SKIPPY (Graves).—A beautiful chestnut mahogany blend, straight hanging falls. (Mass.)

SNOW MAIDEN (Chadwick).—A beautiful dwarf. Mr. Salbach calls it an intermediate. Pure white with a green midrib, two low branches. One of the earliest. (Mass.)

SNOW BELLE (McKee).—A large warm white of great beauty with flaring falls, beautiful form and nicely branched. (Mass.)

SNOWKING (H. P. Sass).—A great white, unusually large. (Minn.)

SNOW PLUME (Nesmith).—Another fine white from Mrs. Nesmith. Distinct and equally good as Cathedral Dome, still different. (Mass.)

SONG OF GOLD (Essig).—Perhaps the most beautiful clumping yellow of all. Santa Barbara flaring fall form too. (Cal.)

SPOKAN (J. Sass).—A beauty in size and color. I saw several well-proportioned flowers this year; last year they were too big for their stalks and the falls too long and floppy. (Pa.)

STRATOSPHERE (Donahue).—An intermediate 30", an excellent plant in all respects, apparently as seen on its native heath. (Mass.)

SUMMER CLOUD (Kirkland).—Very soft and lovely. (Minn.)

SUMMER TAN (Kirkland).—1. A sleek, stunning little iris. (Minn.) 2. Not a very large or vigorous iris and not noticeable at a distance, but excellent in form and subtly beautiful in coloring, especially in the blending of tones in the falls. (Pa.)

SUN-PINK (Kellogg).—Not as brilliant as Golden Light, but a bright, clean little blend of great charm and good garden effect. (Pa.)

SUNTAN (Mitchell).—Evidently a poor relation of Naranja, smaller, duller, and undistinguished. Inferior to Baker's Suntan in everything but substance. (Pa.)

SUNDUST (Washington).—Very beautiful in color and quality, splendid in form and carriage. (Mass.)

SWEET ALIBI (White).—Why "Alibi," as it is one of the most beautiful things in the garden. Standards cream, domed and ruffled, slightly edged yellow falls, large, round, semi-flaring, lemon beard, a little bunched at the top. A great bloomer, one of those iris that you have to grit your teeth and mark. (Mass.)

TARANTELLA (H. P. Sass).—Very dainty; the best pink plicata. (Minn.)

TA-WA (H. P. Sass).—An intermediate, pale primrose yellow, a large bloom, good form and color, vigorous and a fine bloomer.

THE BISHOP (Washington).—I would call this a deeper Bishop's Purple. The best I have seen in this color. (Mass.)

THE BLACK DOUGLAS (J. Sass).—A fine iris. (Minn.)

THE RED DOUGLAS (J. Sass).—1. A great iris. (Minn.) 2. The most outstanding iris of the year. It has everything, height, size, color, form, substance and the branching is splendid. Viewed in different localities it proved the most striking iris of the year. Its deep red tones are near the ideal. It completely dominates the garden. (Iowa.) 3. The most sensational new iris seen this year was The Red Douglas in Mr. Douglas' garden, an enormous flower on a young plant; gorgeous dark red, but to me it seemed not as soft and lovely a shade as Red Radiance. (Ala.) 4. A stunning iris in rich, dark red, with carrying power based largely on size and height; but marred by poor form in the falls, which are too narrow and inclined to curl. (Pa.) 5. Domed, crinkled standards with velvet falls that seemed a little pinched, wonderful texture and substance; stalk slightly crooked, with eight buds, good branching and a wide haft. 6. Was the cynosure for most of the judges, though the plant was but one year old, the stalk was fine and the size and color breath-taking. (D. C.)

TINT O'TAN (Ayres).—A slightly odd color seems to be the only reason for this. It has neither form nor substance. (Pa.)

VIOLET CROWN (Kirkland).—1. I like this very much. (Mass.) 2. A huge flower of unusual color, very good. (Minn.)

VARESE (Williamson).—A distinctive shade; fine and rich. (Minn.)

WABASH (Williamson).—1. One of the most beautiful irises ever introduced. What must it be in a clump? (Minn.) 2. Far ahead of others in the Amoena class. (Mass.)

WASATCH (Thorup).—1. This does not click with me. (Minn.) 2. An enormous plicata with S $4 \times 2\frac{1}{2}$, and F $4\frac{1}{4} \times 2\frac{1}{2}$, creamy violet shaded violet midrib, orange beard and a wide haft, with beautiful form as S. are domed and F. flaring. Stalk low branching. (Mass.)

WAVERLY (Williams).—1. I like this even better than Eleanor Blue. (Mass.) 2. A blue self seen in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, of beautiful form, great vigor and a stalk that shows off the many flowers to great advantage. (D. C.)

WHITE GODDESS (Nesmith).—One of our best whites—firm texture, flaring falls, ruffled, pleasing form. (Mass.)

YELLOW EMPEROR (Washington).—Form similar to Sierra Blue—“tailored” form; clear yellow self, fine. (Mass.)

SEEDLINGS

A35-10 (Douglas M. E.)—A first bloom seedling that won instant acclaim, standards deep crinkly yellow, falls cream with crinkly edges of deep yellow, large, well branched, heavy substance. Running a close second was his A35-14, a cream and pale grey blend of fine effect for intimate planting. (D. C.)

GRAHAM'S 1A3.—The finest branched blue seen, for poise and symmetrical beauty it compares with the best in any color. (Ala.)

GRAHAM'S DA1. Its color can only be described as a dream; a must-have for me. (Ala.)

NICHOLLS' No. 18872.—A brilliant medium red bicolor, large, well branched, also showed no rain damage. (D. C.)

NICHOLLS' No. 18806, which is a tall very large white, also stood up in a heavy downpour of rain. Both these were on one year plants. (D. C.)

SASS' No. 30-40 proved to be a brilliant coppery red bicolor, large and rain resistant. (D. C.)

STURTEVANT'S 37-3 (Yellow seedling by Grace Sturtevant).—The best in a row of very striking deep yellow seedlings blooming for the first time. They do not threaten to rival the Californians in size and height, but they do rival the colors of Naranja and California Gold in the typical size and form of Sturtevant irises. (Pa.)

INTERNATIONAL HORTICULTURAL CONGRESS

■ The next International Horticultural Congress will be held in Berlin, Germany, from August 12th to 20th, 1938. A cordial invitation has been received from the Secretary General of the International Committee, urging the attendance of as many members of the American Iris Society as possible. Detailed information in regard to the program will be sent to any member who is interested.

FOREWORD TO MEMBERSHIP LISTS—1937

■ At the time the last list was published an attempt was made to meet the wishes of those members who wanted a geographical list. The result was protests from those persons who wanted only an alphabetical list. This year we publish the list in both forms and hope that no third party will appear.

The list is prepared as of October 1, 1937. There are already some additions that will appear later in the BULLETIN.

A word of explanation in regard to dates and symbols should be noted. C indicates a Charter Member. L indicates a Life Member. C-L indicates a Life Member from the beginning of the Society's organization. The latter data have been most difficult to verify. The date represents the beginning of continuous membership. If you were a member in 1925, dropped out and rejoined in 1933, your date stands as 1933. If membership has changed within a family, the date is that for the last name.

COMMERCIAL DIRECTORY

All of the dealers listed below are members of The American Iris Society. If you are buying iris for your garden, it should be your particular pleasure to make your purchases from the dealers who have worked with and supported your society. Your officers and directors invite your particular attention to this list. They also ask a favor. When you order, tell the dealer you saw his name in the BULLETIN and do him a favor by not asking for a catalog unless you mean business.

THE AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY

INVITES

MEMBERS of the American Iris Society who also enjoy roses to unite with it in improving and furthering the enjoyment of roses throughout the world.

The American Rose Annual, sent to each member every year, describes all the new roses and is packed with information and inspiration for rose growers.

The American Rose Quarterly deals with current exhibitions, meetings, rose pilgrimages, roster of members, etc.

"What Every Rose Grower Should Know," the Society's book of instructions for rose-growing, is sent to each member.

The Committee of Consulting Rosarians will give free advice on all rose subjects.

DUES $3.50 PER YEAR; THREE YEARS FOR $10.00

Address

SECRETARY, AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY
Harrisburg, Penna.

SPECIAL NOTICE

UNTIL the preset issue of the New Peony Manual is exhausted the Directors of the American Peony Society have reduced the price to $3.15, delivered. This is a reduction of 50% from former price and was prompted to meet present conditions and make it possible for every garden lover to obtain a copy, which at present price is below cost of production.

This manual is the greatest book of its kind and will prove of great value to any peony admirer. Membership in the American Peony Society, four splendid bulletins, together with the peony manual for $6.00.

Act quick if you desire a manual as at this low price we expect to soon dispose of the balance of books on hand. Address all communications and remittances to:

W. F. Christman, Secretary,
American Peony Society,
Northbrook, Ill.
